Author: Jenny Shaw, Webmaster of Little Bealings Website

Little Bealings Website comprises of 55 web pages. 54 of which are fully compliant. One has a very minor contrast error which OneSuffolk developers have agreed to resolve by the end of August 2020.

Each web page has been checked using the Wave tool.

Detailed results are included for each web page which are summarised under six categories:

1. Errors: all of which have been fixed.
2. Contrast Errors: all of which have been fixed.
3. Alerts which have been manually checked. All those that required action by the webmaster have been resolved.
4. Features which have been manually checked. All those that required fixing have been resolved.
5. Structural Elements which have been manually checked and corrected as necessary.
6. Arias which have been manually checked by OneSuffolk (our website developers) and resolved as necessary.

Compliance in this report is taken to be a test resulting in no Errors and no Contrast Errors and that any issues identified by manual checks have been resolved and removed when retested.

Page 2 has a list of 26 priority web pages with a summary of the results by the six categories mentioned.

Each PDF document included in the samples has been tested and problems resolved via Adobe Acrobat Pro DC (except where the sample came from an external source). Old PDFs do have some minor issues relating to nested Headings. Refer the related WCAG section: 2.4.6 Headings and Labels. (Level AA). The order of headings is not required under WCAG, and is only an advisory technique. Screen readers have been used to check the readability of the outputs. Evidence of each PDF's test results is included at the end of this report immediately following the Wave page reports.

Type 1: Agenda PDF

Four sample Agendas(at different dates since September 2018) have been checked and made accessible via the Adobe tool and checked via screen readers. Screen Documents published since July 6th are being prepared with heading structures.

Type 2: District and County Councillor Reports

All documents on this webpage are externally prepared. They did prove 'screen readable' but may have weak heading structures.

Type 3: PC Approved Minutes and Draft Minutes

Random sample of minutes all proved 'screen readable'. Two were tested in detail and corrected via Adobe tool with only the minor Headings issue.

Type 4: Protocol documents

PDFs produced in-house have been tested and corrected via Adobe tool. The PDFs based on model documents produced by SALC and NALC were tested and corrected via Adobe tool. New PDFs are expected in the next month and checks will be carried out again.

Type 5: Budget documents

The Budget documents are all based on Excel spreadsheets which are then scanned to PF. The current year PDF document was tested and corrected via the Adobe tool and republished with minor heading problem.

Type 6: Annual Parish Meeting (APM) Minutes

The 2020 APM minutes were tested and corrected via Adobe tool with weak heading structure. Future documents will address these issues..

Type 7: Parish Plan and Review documents

All documents were produced before September 2018 so not a priority. Tests were carried out and proved problematic.

Type 8: Governance & Accountability documents

The external documents are all scanned documents. We have been advised by the external source that these are not accessible.
Two in-house documents which relate to current year have been tested and corrected via the Adobe tool: refer PDF titles: 19.20 Payments, Receipts, Variances, Assets and Reconciliation and Notice of Exercise of Public Rights

Welcome to Little Bealings
This pretty village lies along the Fynn Valley some three miles west of Woodbridge in the county of Suffolk, England
Little Bealings benefits from a thriving Primary School, a Village Hall and a number of historical landmarks such as the Admiral's Head public house (presently closed to the public), All Saints Church and the Angela Cobbold Hall.
On the northern edge of the village sits Bealings Village Hall with its adjoining John Belstead Playing Field, a facility which is shared with our sister village Great Bealings and was the subject of an exciting project to provide a refurbished amenity space with play and sports facilities in 2008.
On the southern edge of the village, the old station buildings have been converted into the Mallard Business Centre, home to a number of small businesses. Whilst just 5 minutes drive away, in nearby Martlesham, there is a major technology centre.
The village has a number of public footpaths and lies on the route of the Fynn local circular walks.
Transport services include a local bus service which runs to Ipswich and surro railway stations at Woodbridge and Ipswich.

This community resource has one large meeting room with an adjoining kitchen/services which makes it ideal for regular club meetings,workshops, parties, charity sales etc.. It has space for 5 cars outside. It is owned and managed by ROPETH, a company with charitable status, responsible for the Charitable Trust of the Angela Cobbold Hall.

- Historical Background to the Legacy

Angela Cobbold had a dream, to create a place of spiritual fulfillment for the people of Little Bealings and her memorial hall truly has a very friendly atmosphere. In 1924 a Trust was established with a view to build a village hut on land in Sandy Lane, which had been donated to the Parish by Mr Albert Howe. This was to be, "used in perpetuity as a non-sectarian and non-political place of recreation and social intercourse under the name of Little Bealings Parish Institute, for the advantage or benefit of the male and female inhabitants of Little Bealings and the surrounding district."

One of the Trustees was Angela Cobbold, daughter of a prominent local family. Worthy as the Institute was, Angela was sorry that there was no hall specifically for the church. Sadly, Angela died in 1936 aged fifty-two and unmarried, before her dream was realised.

The land where Angela Cobbold Hall now stands was once part of The Grove, until comparatively recently, a home for retired gentlefolk, but previously, the private residence of Captain Eric Hervey. After Angela's death Captain Hervey agreed to sell a small piece of land to Angela's mother so that she could have a hall erected in memory of her daughter. The land was conveyed to Francis Cobbold, Angela's brother, for the princely sum of £25 so now the hall could be built.

On completion the hall was donated to the St Edmundsbury and Ipswich Diocesan Board of Finance. The Board held it for the benefit of the Church of England and the parishioners of Little Bealings. It was to be used for... "a Sunday school or school for children and adults

In 1894 the Local Government Act introduced elected Parish Councils. On 9 March 1896 Little Bealings held a Parish Meeting and elected five Parish Councillors.

An Annual Parish Meeting, arranged by the Parish Council, has been held every year since, between 1st March & 1st June and not beginning before 6pm, as required by law. The meeting is chaired by the Chairman of the Parish Council.

The Little Bealings Annual Parish Meeting is not a Parish Council Meeting and it is therefore not conducted in the same way. The Chairman gives a report on the Parish Council's activities over the last year and other local representatives and groups can report on their activities too. Parishioners can ask questions and make statements about local matters during the meeting and can pass resolutions - although they do not bind the Parish Council.

Since 1896 the minutes of the Annual Parish Meetings have been hand written into a Minute Book. The Minute Book covering the period 1896 to 2013 has been deposited at the Suffolk Records Office.

Brief history of Little Bealings

Little Bealings is a small village lying three miles to the south west of the market town of Woodbridge and correspondingly five miles to the north east of Ipswich. In terms of acreage it is only 795 acres in total area and is situated in the south western tip of what is known as the coastal sandlings. For a glimpse of life in Bealings between the 1900s and the 1940s view our Gallery pages

Today much of this land is divided between arable and woodland, of which most lies along the southern perimeter adjacent to the Martlesham Road. This area has been largely developed over the last 100 years into residential properties. Similarly to the south along the Playford Road, much of the housing now stands on what was once part of the old heath lands. To the rear of these properties the heath land has been developed into an area of sand and gravel pits for mineral extraction.

The old centre of the village lies to the north of these two areas in the valley of the river Fynn, which flows out through Martlesham creek to the river Deben. Some burial sites were discovered in the area of the gravel pits exposing part of an extensive urn-field burial site when the top soils were stripped away.

These finds have been dated from the late Bronze Age (1700BC) and were the burial urns of the Beaker and Urn Folk which are usually found under low earthen mounds. (SIAH, Vol. XXXVII. 1958.) Other later finds come from the Iron Age (500BC) to Roman coins and Romano pottery sherds and date from the fourth century AD. More Saxon finds from the fifth to the eleventh centuries have been discovered elsewhere in the village, showing the change and migration from the continent of Europe, which was taking place as the Roman armies and fleets were withdrawn from Britain to Rome.

You can see from these findings that the area is steeped in history and has seen enormous change, much of it through raiding parties from the Low Countries and Scandinavia involving the Saxons, Danes and Vikings. About this time a hoard of Roman coins was buried in a small box made of bone on land which today is the site of the village hall. These were discovered by a small group of boys from the village in 1934, who were playing in the sandpit that then existed on the site. There were about 500 coins in total, most of them dating from AD 379 to 395. This important find was donated to the Ipswich Museum collections, by Gerald Smith a local farmer.

One more particularly interesting find was a Saxon [illegible] the wooden village sign erected at the boundary of the two villages by

Leisurely Tour

Take A Leisurely Tour Around Little Bealings

This pretty village lies three miles west of Woodbridge along the beautiful Fynn Valley and is only six miles from the centre of Ipswich approaching along the Playford Road.

By road, take Bealings Road beside the Red Lion in Old Martlesham. At the top of the hill, the road's name changes to Martlesham Road. This road is most pleasantly bordered with mature trees and vegetation. At the first crossroads, turn right and travel down the hill, through an archway of trees, over the railway crossing. On the left, the old station buildings are now home to the Mallard Business Centre.

Carry on down along The Street and you come to the bridge over the River Fynn. This river was once wide enough to take small boats but is now a pretty stream flanked by tall trees such as Alder and Sycamore.

Look to your right over a meadow, usually with grazing cows or sheep. In spring, the vista is truly beautiful, the trees, a melody of young soft greens with the shapes of the topmost branches of oak, poplar and beech etched across the skyline. Travel on a little further and you come to Sandy Lane on your left. There on the corner is the former local hostelry, The Admiral's Head, not as might be supposed named for Lord Nelson but Rear Admiral Pelham. The building dates from the 17th century and is one of the oldest in the village. In times past it was the focal point for the many farm workers to meet and relax after a hard-day's toil.

Venture a little way up Sandy Lane and there you will find Bealings County Primary School. Set in an old building of traditional design, this is a thoroughly modern school with a high academic attainment. In 2005 it achieved top place for primary schools in the whole of England.

Go back into The Street and hidden to the right, is the eponymous Angela Cobbold Memorial Hall. Angela Cobbold regretted that there was no Church Hall but sadly, she died with her wish unfulfilled. Her mother bought the small piece of land opposite so that the Hall could be built in memory of her daughter.

From here the road rises and there, on the left is All Saints Church. A row of splendid lime trees stand sentinel along its border. The Church is set most pleasingly at the base of a hill with the graveyard sweeping up behind it. This is a pretty [illegible] church with no airs and graces. Enter and rest for a few minutes; feel the
